

Inspiring Changemakers:

Thank you to Mrs Fidler for organising another fabulous day in collaboration with Appledore Book Festival. We welcomed graphic novel author, Neil Cameron and Tracey Corderoy, author of the Shifty McGifty novels. The children were really inspired! Thanks to Appledore Book Festival and the publishers for their generous donation of a book for every child.

Our reading for pleasure journey just keeps getting better.

Key learning this week:

I've been around the school asking about what the children have learned this week: The results are in!

Reception have learned more new sounds and have settled brilliantly into their routines.

Year 1 have enjoyed a fabulous trip to Bideford as part of their history learning.

Year 2 have enjoyed sharing their information texts about the Great Fire of London with the reception children.

In Year 3, the children made cave paintings using hand stencils. In Year 4, Mr Marlow worked with the children on balancing the trees with open space in the environment.

In Year 5, the children were very enthusiastic about exploring phases of the moon with oreos (YUM!) and in Year 6 the children are loving their core text, Letters from the Lighthouse. It is leading to some great codebreaking activities! Phewph!

We are recruiting for 2 cleaners to work 15 hours a week each. Term time only. £11.59 per hour (£13.15 inclusive of holiday pay).
